

Nina Rapoport

Université Panthéon-Sorbonne (CES)
Paris School of Economics

nina.rapoport@psemail.eu
LinkedIn

Education	Université Panthéon-Sorbonne (CES), Paris School of Economics Ph.D., Economics, 2020 - current Behavioral Economics, Economics and Psychology Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne, Université Paris Descartes M.A., Economics and Psychology, 2016 - 2018 (Summa Cum Laude) Hebrew University of Jerusalem B.A., Economics and Psychology (double degree), 2013 - 2016
Research Positions	Inter-American Development Bank Research Fellow, 2018 - 2020 Behavioral Economics Group, Research Department (RES) The Henry Crown Institute of Business Research in Israel Research Assistant for Prof. Ayala Arad, 2017-2018
Teaching	Economics and Psychology M1, Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne Tutorial Instructor, Introduction to Econometrics, 2020 Winter School Research Workshop Mentor, 2020 - 2021 MA Behavioral Economics, IDC Herzliya Guest lecturer in course "Voices from the field", 2021 l'Ecole nationale d'administration (ENA) Hackathon "Regards Croisés", Workshop Mentor, 2021
Awards and Fellowships	PSE Best Experimental Economics Project, 2017-2018 Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne Doctoral grant, 2020-2023
Working papers	Voluntary contributions in cascades: The tragedy of ill-informed leadership, with Béatrice Boulu-Reshef (Working paper available here) Social influence in field fundraising schemes, a review of the literature, with Béatrice Boulu-Reshef, Aïda Diallo, and Soffia Mun
Work in Progress	Walking in her shoes: incorporating virtual reality in a school-based sexual violence prevention program for teens, with Carlos Scartascini An experimental study of gender identity and economic decision making
Languages and Skills	French (native), Hebrew (native), English (fluent), Spanish (intermediate) R, Stata, L^AT_EX